

CONCEPT COMPETITION

Regulations of the European writing competition of film concepts

The Brussels European Film Festival (FFFB) launches its first edition of a European competition of film concepts.

In accordance with the general purpose of the festival to show exclusively first and second films from across Europe, this contest wants to go back to the basis of film making: the 'idea', the 'concept' or some may call it the 'pitch'. The festival aims like this to trace scripts with an attractive, promising concept which can persuade a producer. But more than just finding the rare pearl between the script ideas, the festival wants to encourage the author to develop its ingenious filmidea into a strong script.

Are you a screenwriter or film director who has done maximum one long feature film and who has the nationality of one of the 25 European Union countries, than send us your concept of maximum three pages.
